MEET THE ILLUSTRATOR

Evan Neidich

"The goal of my art is to bring JOY to people and help them engage with their childlike IMAGINATION."

The Fox and the Crow were Evan Neidich's favorite imaginary friends to play with in the forest during her childhood. Her vibrant imagination remained with her into adulthood. Now, Neidich is the owner and artist behind Fox & Crow Paper Co., a St. Petersburg-based business that sells art prints, greeting cards, enamel pins, patches and coloring books.

"The best compliment I get at markets is, 'Wow, you can't help but smile when you see this!"

Neidich's style of art is whimsical and vivid, blooming with color and radiating joy. The artist enjoys drawing animals, especially foxes, as well as plants, flowers and other things found in nature.

Following the thread of education and giving back to the community, Neidich is involved with the local non-profit, NOMAD Art Bus, which brings accessible art to local Head Start centers, juvenile detention centers, foster homes, group homes, and more. The artist teaches courses on small business management and art creation on the site Skillshare. She is also working on illustrating books for children and co-curating a few local art shows.

You can find Neidich selling her art at the St. Petersburg Saturday Morning Market, as well as the Indie Flea. When she isn't making art or vending, you can find her at Haw-thorne Bottle Shoppe, munching on the Coachella sandwich, or sipping tea at Black Crow Coffee Co.

MEET THE MAFIA

We are market lovers.

Market Mafia is a onestop shop for finding and sharing handcraft market events. We make it easy to shop local, or find vendor opportunities.

According to the American Independent Business Alliance: Every dollar we spend at an indie business returns 3x more money back into our local community than when we spend at chains! SUPPORTING LOCAL MATTERS.

WORD ON THE STREET

Giovanni Cerro is St. Pete's original Poet For Hire. Though the traveling wordsmith has moved on from the 'Burg, he left his mark on Market Mafia. Follow him @gios_typos.

INSIDE THE HIT LIST

BUILD YOUR BRAND

THE MESSY PAINTER BRANDED ILLUSTRATIONS

To me, nothing can replace the hand drawn texture and feel of an illustration. and I think it can really set a design apart. Standing out is exactly what you want and need to do as a small business owner. As an artist and a designer, I will always favor raw materials over a digital screen, but the branded illustration process enables me to fuse the two for some truly creative results that aren't just interesting to look at it, but are useful for a variety of media platforms and printed textiles. This means small businesses can use my illustrations on web platforms, social media or any printed items they may want to use for packaging, swag, products, etc. Branded illustrations offer a personal and artistic touch, but are still cohesive enough to flow with existing logos and any additional assets a business may have. I like to think of branded illustrations as a representation of how you would visually tell the story of your business through artwork.

JESSICA FREDERICKS PROFESSIONAL PHOTOGRAPHY

As a wedding and lifestyle photographer, I photograph stories and moments that matter because I am obsessed with preserving the magic in every phase of your life and relationships. I truly believe that the story of you and your brand is an important one to tell through photographs. You deserve to celebrate your hard work and accomplishments; photography will help connect you with your clients and customers.

I am drawn to capturing the beauty in your realness through light and bright images in dreamy, lush, outdoor locations. My favorite compliment as a photographer is that I'm able to make you feel comfortable in front of my camera. I usually do that by being silly, asking questions and using the time to genuinely connect with you.

A Portland, Oregon native, I moved to St. Petersburg, Florida in October 2017 from San Francisco, California. My cross-country move inspired me to leave behind a career in corporate apparel merchandising to pursue my passion of photography full-time. I am now loving life in the sunshine with my husband, 1 year-old son and French Bulldoa!

BOHEMIAN REVES | BODY CARE

"I often feel that Bohem created itself and I'm more of a vessel helping to manifest these products," says Amelia Dean, Founder of Bohemian Reves.

"I think vibrations are present in all aspects in life. And to achieve your highest potential, it's so important to stay in-tune with them and surround yourself with people that are on the same frequency level. Much like people, plants know when vibes are good, as they tune-in to acoustic vibrations. Being able to harness and extract those positive vibes to create clean, small-batch skincare that creates an eco-friendly flow is truly a dream."

Bohemian Reves creates small batch skincare and hand poured botanical candles. User friendly, vegan and organic - Bohem focuses on formulating plant based skin love for the everyday bohemian.

REJULED | JEWELRY

Julie Angerosa is an artist who has been using repurposed materials to make art and teach for 20 years. REJuled was established in 2016 and sells earrings, bracelets and necklaces for all people. It combines Julie's love for earth elements and interesting metals. The creation process begins while searching for materials and that has led her all over the country, from mining tourmaline in CA to warehouses in the NYC Garment District. Sustainable packaging is handcrafted from wood and fabric. The REJuled brand represents eco-conscious living and the search for fresh perspective.
